

AWMAC Code of Conduct

effective September 10, 2024

AWMAC Members, including their owners, employees and authorized representatives shall:

- Abide by the AWMAC’s Bylaws;
- Act in the best interest of AWMAC, including positive promotion of the Association, and never acting or speaking in a manner that disparages or lowers the public’s perception of AWMAC;
- Encourage, promote, and participate in AWMAC initiatives, programs and events that cultivate and improve relationships between association members, supporters, and stakeholders in our industry;
- Understand and promote AWMAC’s Standards as the set of Woodworking Standards that they abide by unless it’s clearly specified otherwise;
- Understand and promote the GIS Program and never encourage or incentivize the removal of the GIS Program from a project when it has been specified;
- Encourage, promote, and participate in education sessions and programs that increase our industry stakeholders’ knowledge-base and improve the level of certainty that a customer will receive the quality of architectural woodwork that is specified;
- Conduct business operations with integrity and respect business to business relationships; and,
- Treat diversity, inclusion and respect as a priority, and take action against discrimination or harm, while upholding equality and tolerance.
